NEXT GEN LEGAL LEADERS SUMMIT 2025

AGENDA

Registration

08:30 - 09:00

MC welcome

09:00 - 09:10

Session 1 - KEYNOTE

09:10 - 09:45

Is the legal profession ready to create equitable change

DARSHANA PAREKH

Senior Lawyer and Inclusion Consultant
Canon Oceanic

Darshana Parekh, Senior Lawyer and Inclusion Consultant, will deliver a compelling session examining the question: Is the legal profession ready to create equitable change? Drawing on her experience, Darshana will highlight the profession's historic influence in shaping social progress across Australia.

Despite equity's longstanding presence in legal doctrine, Darshana observes a persistent gap between the theory of fairness and its practical implementation. She will discuss the key factors perpetuating this disconnect, including the systemic and cultural barriers modern practitioners face.

Darshana encourages participants to imagine a future where every day legal work reflects equity's core values. The session will remind delegates that by revitalising the spirit of equity, the legal profession can be a force for meaningful change in Australia. Attendees will leave feeling energised, curious, and challenged about how they might help the legal profession become a force of change in Australia.

Session 2 - KEYNOTE

09:45 - 10:20

5 ways to become the next generation of legal leaders

KARENA NICHOLLS

Partner, Head of Injury
Compensation & Employment Law
Coutts Lawyers & Conveyancers

Key talking points:

- Breaking glass ceilings (or not, and ways around it!) covering resilience
- Finding opportunity (business development, partnership, personal growth)
- Remember your WHY - why you started, why you keep going, what helps you get out of bed in the morning, why law etc.
- Mentorship - both in being one, and seeking others out along the way
- Self awareness - across communication, how you show up each day, how you bring your best self to the table etc.

Session 3 - CAREERS PARTNER SPOTLIGHT

10:20 - 10:40

Your pathway to progression: Insights from a leading career coach & former litigation lawyer

ELVIRA NAIMAN

Managing Director
Naiman Clarke

Being smart, diligent and always giving your best does not always guarantee career progression into leadership roles. Reaching this level requires planning and preparation.

This session will focus on planning for partnership and senior roles in corporate legal departments. From figuring out the pathways and markers of progress, to the preparation of business plans and undertaking further education this session will give participants a solid understanding of the steps required to reach your career and leadership goals.

Session 5 - WORKSHOP

11:55 - 12:40

Building a proactive legal department: Strategies for success

JESSICA GIAMPICCOLO

Director
JMLG Advisory Pty Ltd

In today's rapidly changing business landscape, legal departments are under increasing pressure to not only react to legal issues but to proactively manage risks and add strategic value.

This session will explore how legal teams can transition from being reactive to proactive, enabling them to better align with the goals of the broader business while ensuring compliance, minimising legal risk, and optimising resources.

You will discover:

- The need for legal departments to anticipate and prevent issues before they arise, rather than simply responding to crises.
- How to identify potential legal risks early and implement systems to manage them efficiently.
- How to develop relationships with key stakeholders across the organisation, ensuring legal considerations are integrated into strategic decision-making processes.
- Best practices for developing a legal team that is agile, informed, and capable of anticipating business needs.

Lunch & networking

12:40 - 13:25

Session 6 - KEYNOTE

13:25 - 14:00

Beyond the billable hour: A lawyer's journey from private practice to the not-for-profit sector

KATRINA BULLOCK

General Counsel & Company
Secretary
Greenpeace Australia Pacific

For many lawyers, the traditional path of private practice is just the beginning of their professional story.

In this inspiring session, hear from a former private practice lawyer who made the bold decision to leave the corporate world and embrace a new challenge as General Counsel and Company Secretary in the not-for-profit sector. The speaker will share their personal journey, including the pivotal moments that led to this career shift, the challenges and rewards of working in a mission-driven environment, and how their legal expertise has been instrumental in advancing organisational goals and social impact.

Through candid reflection, they will discuss the importance of aligning professional aspirations with personal values, the transferable skills that make lawyers uniquely suited for leadership roles in diverse sectors, and the lessons learned from navigating this significant transition. This session offers valuable insights for legal professionals considering alternative career paths and for anyone seeking inspiration on how to create a meaningful and impactful career beyond private practice.

Session 7 - KEYNOTE

14:00 - 14:45

Tech-Enabled Lawyer: How to build a sustainable tech culture

FIONA MCLAY

Principal Consultant
McLay Legal Consulting

In this highly practical session, find out how legal professionals can foster a sustainable technology culture that drives efficiency, enhances client service, and supports long-term success. Learn practical strategies to overcome resistance to change, leverage existing tools effectively, and pick new technologies with confidence.

We'll discuss:

- The key elements of a sustainable tech culture in an often technophobic environment.
- How to align technology with strategic business goals.
- Steps to encourage leadership and team engagement in tech adoption.
- Practical small steps you can take right now to maximize the value of your existing technology.

Whether you're just beginning your tech journey or looking to refine your approach, this session will provide actionable insights to help you and your team thrive in a tech-enabled future.

Afternoon tea

14:45 - 15:15

GenAI: Help or hindrance in achieving justice?

The use of generative artificial intelligence (GenAI) is rapidly increasing across legal services, including in litigation and dispute resolution. This expert panel will explore the impact of GenAI on these areas of practice, including:

- The rise of 'fake law' in Australia and other common law jurisdictions and the response from courts and legal regulators.
- Balancing efficiency gains from GenAI for case preparation with the need to maintain the integrity of legal processes.
- Ensuring compliance with legal, ethical, and professional obligations.
- Assessing whether GenAI can improve access to justice when resolving disputes or further complicates an already complex field.

Join us to explore these critical issues and understand the dual role of GenAI as both enabler and disruptor.
